About: James Tenser

B2B Expert Storyteller James "Jamie" Tenser has devoted his entire career to explaining how consumer goods are made, marketed, moved and merchandised. A "recovering journalist," armchair futurist, media ecologist and unapologetic retail nerd, he holds relentless fascination with the world's most pervasive industry.

As a lead editor at The Discount Merchandiser, VisionMonday, Supermarket News, BrandMarketing and the founder of VStoreNews, he broke stories and unpacked innovations that defined food, drug, mass, specialty and e-commerce. His books Tenser's Tirades, Customer Service Excellence 2004 and numerous posts, articles and client publications aim to demystify the never-ending retail revolution.

In his consulting practice, VSN Strategies, as a long-standing member of the RetailWire BrainTrust, and as a member of the RETHINK Retail advisory council, he continues to offer his uniquely informed perspective on all things retail.
